

Christian Brenner's quintet

Christian Brenner's quintet plays an open, poetic form of Jazz which relies on beautiful melodies, groovy rhythms and ostinatos to spark cheerful, hypnotic moments of improvisation.

Comprised of original pieces written by Christian Brenner (piano) and arranged by the quintet, their repertoire is an invitation to explore a diversity of moods with the musicians.

The use of alto, tenor and soprano saxophones as well as the flute conjures up beautiful and complex atmospheres, steadily anchored in a modern rhythm section.

« The band's unity and consistency marks it as a chosen family, deeply bound by friendship and mutual respect. Music and emotions are allowed to circulate freely around this beautiful piece of musical architecture. » Lionel ESKENAZI

« This quintet's command of its equally bold and unshakable creativity makes for stunning grooves. » Jean-Claude BONNIN
